talking together

Edition 1: February 2013

Gambarra Year centres on bringing community back to the 'Good Place'

In July 2012 Trish Delaney was appointed as the new CEO of the Bundiyarra Aboriginal Community Aboriginal Corporation - BACAC. During this period of time she has worked closely with the board, staff, members and community to instigate a new and vibrant vision to the corporation. In appointing Trish to her new role of CEO, great consideration was given to her extensive skill in Administration and Finance and her sweeping knowledge of local history. It was also noted that Trish's work ethics were reinforced with tolerance and reliability. Trish was previously employed by the City of Greater Geraldton as the Indigenous and Community Development Officer, and her life skills include a history in Nursing, Psychology and Human Resources. Long-standing member and employee at BACAC, Jennifer Kniveton recalls working with Trish at the City of Greater Geraldton, and her ability to succeed in getting things done. "Trish's initiative comes as a breath of fresh air to all of us at Bundiyarra."

she said. Bundiyarra Chairperson Ross Oakley, asserted that Trish's willingness to work as one within the Corporation and Community members, had been an inspiration to all. "Trish's ability to lead has been outstanding and Bundiyarra will continue to deliver priority programs to the community. We already have in place the Irra Wangga Language Program, Wajarri Language Classes, the Environmental Health Program, Connecting Cultures - Cultural Awareness Training, and a Conference room available for hire. We are keen to see the development of many new initiatives in the near future. The launch of our Website www.bundiyarra.com.au, and the publication of our inaugural newsletter Bundiyarra Wanggajimanha are big milestones. Both vehicles of communication will taxi information throughout the Community," said Ross. He also wanted take the opportunity to welcome Trish and acknowledge her commitment, enthusiasm, and support to all of us at Bundiyarra.

Why does Bundiyarra exist?

Bundiyarra meaning 'A Good Place'

The story begins in 1992 when after 10 years of hard slogging, a group of Elders won their fight to win land rights for the reserve located on the corner of Eastward and Blencowe Roads in Utakarra.

The Elders weren't afraid of the hard work they had in front of them, as they saw the opportunity for a sporting, recreational and administrative centre for the local Aboriginal people once the land is developed. This would allow them to preserve their heritage, promote their culture and provide their children and families with a launching pad for the future.

The site for the Bundiyarra complex was chosen because of its historical significance. Founding families, the Ronans, the Camerons the Dodds, the Gregorys, the Nannups and the Whitbys can trace their ancestry in the area for many generations. Acknowledgement to Sandy Davies should also be made for his encouragement to Aboriginal people to use their voice. According to Rob Ronan, during the late 1950's his people used the land as a camping area because they were not allowed to go into town.

In 1994 the five hectare block, which was officially vested in the Aboriginal Lands Trust was granted to Bundiyarra on a 99-year 'peppercorn lease'.

On Friday, 28 June 2002, the care, control and management of Bundiyarra Reserve 22660 was transferred from the Aboriginal Lands Trust to Bundiyarra Aboriginal Community Aboriginal Corporation as part of the Western Australian Government's Land Transfer Program.

To commence the occasion, the Hon. Alan Carpenter, MLA, Minister for Indigenous Affairs, presented the framed documents to the Corporation at an official ceremony held at the Bundiyarra Centre.

The reserve was named Bundiyarra by Dora Dann meaning 'A good place to go' in Wajarri language.

Since the official opening on Wednesday, 1 May 1998, Bundiyarra has focused on the List of Objectives created by the Founding Elders.

Bundiyarra has offered a multitude of programs and services, assisted with the delivery of fourteen language resources, delivered training in language and assisting organisations with how to engage Aboriginal people, offered conference room facilities, assisted remote communities to live in an environmentally friendly and safe place and acted as an umbrella body for a number of Aboriginal organisations.

The List of Objectives are as follows;

1. To act as an umbrella body for Aboriginal organisations in the region
2. To coordinate the activities of its members in so far as these activities
3. To provide accounting and other community services for the members
4. To support the social development of its members
5. To bring about self support of its members
6. To support education, job training, health services, employment and housing to its members
7. To help and encourage its members to maintain and continue their traditional culture.

What does Bundiyarra offer today?

Since Incorporation in 1992, Bundiyarra has set up a modern, professionally run community and administrative centre. Bundiyarra Aboriginal Community Aboriginal Corporation currently employs 18 staff in a variety of positions to achieve the organisational outcomes.

Geraldton's Bundiyarra Aboriginal Community Aboriginal Corporation is getting for the official opening of their new premises in Utakarra. With the help of Geraldton's most talented helpers, Bundiyarra's new hall and grounds are being transformed.

A team of artists from the Aboriginal Art and Design course at Central West TAFE, are putting their best works onto the hall itself. Panels were build onto the building expressly for the murals, and Maxine Charlie is just one of the artists painting a panel.

In fact it is Maxine's artwork that will be used for Bundiyarra's new logo that will be seen on their letterheads and invitations.

The painting represents the different community organisations and people that Bundiyarra is linked to.

The word Bundiyarra means 'A good place'.

Bundiyarra Aboriginal Community Aboriginal Corporation was officially opened on Wednesday, 1 May 1998.

Wednesday, 1 May 2013, will mark the fifteenth Anniversary since the opening.

Dora Dann can be proud of naming Bundiyarra. The word 'Bundiyarra' is taken from the Wajarri language and means 'this is a good place to go'. Dora has been a life time supporter of Bundiyarra. Her determination to make a go of the opportunity, has provided something for younger generations to utilise for many years to come.

2012 - Celebrating 15 years

Inaugural marketing coordinator welcomed

After nearly fifteen years developing and delivering multiple programs and services to the communities in the Midwest, Murchison and Gascoyne regions, Bundiyarra has expanded their team to employ a Marketing Coordinator, Marchelle McMath.

The role will provide Bundiyarra the opportunity to promote programs and services offered to a greater proportion of community.

The role will also assist Bundiyarra to consult with community on programs and services they currently offer and to develop those that Community express they need.

Marchelle has an extensive marketing background including operating her own design business in Narrogin, eight years as a sales manager for the West Australian Regional Newspaper Group and recently in marketing and cruise ships with the City of Greater Geraldton. Bundiyarra CEO Trish Delaney said "Having a marketing coordinator will make a significant difference in how we communicate with our members, community, businesses and government. Being able to produce our own monthly newsletter, maintain our website, assist in coordination of National Cultural events and produce professional documents for distribution will help reflect the continuous hard work achieved by the Bundiyarra board, staff and members. Bundiyarra is receiving a lot of interest from around Australia, marketing our Corporation will increase that further."

Bundiyarra Wanggajimanha creates interest Australia wide

More than 300 postal addresses and 800 email addresses have been collected from one simple question: "Would you like to receive a newsletter from Bundiyarra containing positive stories, updates on services and links to businesses happy to do business with Aboriginal Organisations and people?"

Marketing Coordinator Marchelle McMath said "We haven't had a single person say no, in fact most people have added more contacts from their organisation so the news will be well shared amongst community"

In November 2012, CEO Trish Delaney and Marchelle McMath attended the Indigenous Business, Enterprise and Corporations conference.

More than one hundred contacts were collected from organisations and businesses Australia wide.

It became evident in speaking with many organisations that Bundiyarra is quite unique in its operations and service delivery methods.

This monthly publication will allow us to continue momentum for Bundiyarra and will aim to secure more funding for services into the future.

Guardian Print and Graphics in Geraldton have come on board as a printing sponsor.

Bundiyarra has had a long term relationship with the local company including printing of office stationary and Irra Wangga Language Resources. Proprietor Mal Ennis said Guardian Print and Graphics are pleased to be involved and look forward to working closely with Bundiyarra and other parties to encourage the development of their latest publication.

www.bundiyarra.com.au

In addition to the monthly Bundiyarra Wanggajimanha newsletter, Bundiyarra's website is up and running.

Logic IT have worked with Bundiyarra for many years to develop a site that reflects the extensive list of services available for the Corporation.

Bundiyarra Chair Person Ross Oakley said he is extremely proud that this long term dream has come to fruition.

"For many years we have wanted to launch a website but we were unable to secure funding. Hard work over many years from various services allowed us to save the funds to have the website developed. Bundiyarra is a Not for Profit Organisation, being able to save and pay for this website without funding is a great accomplishment."

Re-furbishment adds fresh appeal to offices

A successful funding submission to Lotterywest to replace the office furniture at Bundiyarra has launched a fresh outlook for 2013.

The grant provided Bundiyarra the opportunity to purchase new desks, book shelves and filing systems. Lotterywest said "They were pleased to support the proposal for office refurbishment".

The previous furniture was from the initial opening in 1998.

Office National Geraldton were the successful office furniture suppliers.

Bundiyarra CEO Trish Delaney said Glenn and Jenny have always been supportive of Bundiyarra, along with their staff giving outstanding service.

In addition to the new furniture, the offices have been painted throughout by Westside Painting Services. Proprietor Rhett Pearce and his team offered exceptional service and quality workmanship.

The bright personalities of Bundiyarra staff are reflected throughout the offices with the choice of colours used.

The aim was to create an atmosphere that reflects the Bundiyarra motto - 'A good place to go'.

Parent and Community Engagement program boosts confidence

The Midwest, Murchison and Gascoyne PaCE Coordination Project was a model developed by Bundiyarra in consultation with the Regional PaCE Stakeholder Group, and was implemented through the employment of a project Coordinator.

Following the research of this, program Bundiyarra developed up a new model of engagement to continue the support of the PaCE participants. The new program was named called Wangga ji Manha.

This program was developed with the support of Durack Institute of Technology (MOU) and Department of Education, Employment and Workplace Relations (DEEWR) Bundiyarra would like to acknowledge the assistance provided by Ms Sonya Trenowden, Project Leader Education Team. Without her support the Wangga ji Manha project would not have been a reality.

The staff, Ms Jennifer Clayton and Durack Student, Susan Eastough are also to be congratulated for their commitments to the program. The development of MOU with Durack Institute of Technology and City of Greater Geraldton shows that strong partnerships will benefit the whole community and see future programs developed to support the needs of Indigenous Australian. The Pace Program was completed in June 2012. With glowing reviews from Department of Education, Employment and Work Relations [DEEWR] with final report.

The following is a summary of the many achievements of both staff and participants;

1. The program has broken down many barriers with the interaction between teaching staff and the parents. As a result of participating in assertive training and conflict management workshops the ladies have become more confident.
2. A DVD was developed in partnership with the Geraldton Regional Community Education Centre and Bundiyarra Aboriginal Community Aboriginal Corporation to assist teaching staff to effectively engage with Aboriginal children and parents. Several of the Wangga ji Manha ladies were instrumental in the development of the DVD. - "Young Parents Voices in Education"
3. A positive outcome resulting in wanting to support their children's education was displayed in our booklet – Yamaji School Yarns - You Snooze You Lose.
4. After attending and participating in two book production and storytelling workshops with Sue Hanson from the WA State Library, the parents felt the need tell their story of their education days. The parents told their stories of:
How, when, and where, they were educated. What they liked and did not like about school and their achievements. Young students were then asked to write their story of present day education and compare the difference. The idea was to encourage the parents to listen to their children read and to read to their children.
5. All parents and children drew their own illustrations throughout the booklet which was launched by the parents on NAIDOC Cultural Day celebrations at Bundiyarra in front of a huge crowd.
6. Four parents attended the Parents & Citizens of the Beachlands Primary school and signed up to be on the committee to assist in the running of the canteen, so that their children could purchase affordable and healthily lunches and snacks within the school ground. The parents said "by doing this it would break down communication barriers" and would enable them to engage with teaching staff at the school a lot easier.
7. Four of the parents continued on to complete the whole 28 weeks of the program, which resulted in each parent receiving an accredited Certificate I, equivalent to the New Opportunities for Women Course delivered at Durack Institute of Technology.
8. One particular parent who volunteered one day per week, to assist with the workload of the delivery of the workshops and to help prepare the morning tea and lunches, was paid wages by Bundiyarra for four weeks. This parent has enrolled in a Certificate IV, in Community Services and is pleased to see the improved

Connecting Cultures

Cultural Awareness Training

Bundiyarra's biggest assets are their board, staff and members. These people are a wealth of cultural knowledge to the Midwest, Murchison and Gascoyne regions. Many yarns at Bundiyarra have shared a common ground - they want to share their knowledge and listen to yours. The collaboration of their personal experiences including growing up in the region, the languages they speak and dream time stories has led to the creation of 'Connecting Cultures - Cultural Awareness Training. CEO, Trish Delaney said that participants who complete their training will receive a Yamaji Card. We will be trying to have the card endorsed so that employees can show local employers that they have completed the course locally. "We recommend people conduct the training from trainers who have lived and grown in the region." she said.

Our Local Trainers

Jennifer Kniveton

'Our Black Pearl' Locally born and bred, Jennifer Kniveton is a qualified trainer (Cert IV Train the Trainer), who has worked across WA for several years. Working as Project Manager of the Bundiyarra - Irrra Wangga Language Program, Jenny is committed to restoring, preserving and educating language and Aboriginal culture.

Derek Councillor

A traditional Naaguja owner of the southern coastal part of the region, Derek has delivered Cultural Awareness training for several years. Being a qualified trainer (Cert IV Training & Assessment), participants will experience his strong sense of identity and spirit as he is determined to ensure that their ideal stories, language and traditions carry on, not only for their children but to give a better understanding of the oldest culture in the world.

Kathy Councillor

Kathy has a strong passion for her people and community. Her past involvement working with language, events and outreach programs has been led by her desire to teach youth of today, tomorrow and the future. Kathy says it is a must in assisting to keep their culture strong and alive for many years to come.

Leonie Boddington

A traditional Wajarri lady with many talents! Leonie is a dedicated family orientated lady who is addicted to her culture. She is a Wajarri speaker and one of the main local educators within Bundiyarra of the Wajarri language. Leonie has travelled and worked extensively with many Elders and peoples to restore, preserve and educate Aboriginal language.

See page 20 for full details on the Connecting Cultures training outline.

Become a Member of Bundiyarra

If you would like to stay informed and receive updates on programs and services available at Bundiyarra you can become a Bundiyarra Member. Membership forms are available from Bundiyarra.

New Marketing Program designed to build capacity

From July 2013, Bundiyarra will expand their Marketing services to members of the Midwest Aboriginal Organisations Alliance (MAOA).

MAOA members will be able to attend Adobe training sessions at Bundiyarra.

Training will include:

- How to enhance your existing logo to reflect modern design
- How to produce an effective brochure that works
- How to process photographs for press and web technology
- How to create graphics

The training sessions will assist MAOA members to market their organisation to build capacity and potentially create future Aboriginal employment.

More information on this program will be included in the March edition of Bundiyarra Wanggajimanha.

18 weeks until NAIDOC Week

Sunday 7 July - Saturday 13 July

We are pleased to inform community that Kathy Councillor has accepted the role of NAIDOC Week Coordinator for 2013.

Kathy is currently looking for committee members, organisations wishing to host events during the week and volunteers to assist with hosting another successful NAIDOC week.

Boomerang Hostel

More short term beds required

Boomerang Hostel is a 22 bed complex for emergency short term stay accommodation located on Gregory Street.

In 2011 - 2012 Royalties for Regions and Lotterywest grants allowed for the refurbishment of the Hostel facilities.

Since the reopening in February 2012, the Hostel has been operating at full capacity.

The hostel primarily accommodates tenants from Carnarvon, Meekatharra and Perth with consistent contact being made by multiple organisations seeking accommodation for clients.

Hostel Manager Debbie Robinson said she liaises continuously with organisations such as PATS, the hospitals, Salvation Army, Mission Australia, St Vinnies, Centrelink, mental health workers and job providers looking for accommodation.

"I wish we had more beds to help more people in emergency situations but at the moment we can't. I pride myself on providing a home environment, it is as simple as that, it is a priority to provide a home environment for people in these situations." Debbie said.

Debbie has an extensive training background including the completion of certificates in Mental Health, Drug and Alcohol abuse, Domestic Violence, Suicide Prevention, Child Protection, First Aid and her Working with Children's certificate.

Boomerang Hostel CEO Trish Delaney said "That the hostel has been too small for too long. We would turn away at least forty people per week and that is without the majority of community knowing that the hostel is available. We have been unable to market this service as we don't like having to turn away people in emergency situations, where else do they go?" Trish said.

Thanks Mavis

For the past six years Mavis Dann has been providing hostel tenants with three daily home cooked meals and Christmas was no exception. The Bundiyarra Board would like to thank Mavis for her ongoing commitment and dedication to Boomerang Hostel.

Planning for new Hostel underway

Planning of a new 138 bed Hostel is underway and discussions with the Nationals, Labour and Liberal Parties have been held.

The new short term transit Hostel would be built with specified areas to suit a variety of tenants.

Not only would the new Hostel close a gap in the number of community members requiring short term accommodation it would also create many training and employment opportunities for many Aboriginal people.

It is proposed that the new Hostel will be built on the Bundiyarra reserve on Eastward and Blencowe Roads.

Organisations are encouraged to contact Bundiyarra and advise them of how many rooms they would like to secure for when the dream becomes a reality.

For further information please contact Bundiyarra CEO Trish Delaney on (08) 9920 7900 or email ceo@bundiyarra.org.au

Long term dream

One of the original founding members of Bundiyarra, Rob Rhonan was unsure why he was invited to be at Bundiyarra, this morning at 10.00am.

He joined Bundiyarra Chairperson Ross Oakley and Bundiyarra staff at the yarning table and was overjoyed to hear that a long term dream of all founding members could potentially become a reality.

Van Styn to support Bundiyarra Hostel Proposal

The Nationals candidate for Geraldton Shane Van Styn has committed to making the Bundiyarra Hostel project in Geraldton a priority if elected.

"The proposed new facility, with up to 138 beds, would be available for individuals and families who need to visit Geraldton for health, family, business or cultural reasons," Mr Van Styn said.

"It would also provide a place to sleep for those who, for a number of reasons, find themselves without housing for a short period of time." Mr Van Styn said the hostel would provide a much needed accommodation base for Indigenous and non indigenous people in the community requiring emergency short-term housing.

"Many indigenous families in particular are required to travel long distances to access services in Geraldton, which can be a significant financial burden," Mr Van Styn said.

"A hostel would mean there would be a reduced need for mums, dads and children to sleep rough when away from home, which in turn reduces social friction and improves health outcomes."

Mr Van Styn said The Nationals recognised the difficulties faced by families when making the journey to Geraldton, as well as the dire need for emergency housing for the wider Geraldton community and the need to provide assistance to reduce the associated hardships.

"If elected as the member for Geraldton in March, I will make this project a local priority and work with the project proponents to ensure it gets up and running." Such a hostel has been indicatively costed at $10 million in 2010, however the project has the ability to be staged. Mr Van Styn said The Nationals had a strong record of delivering indigenous accommodation, including $1.25 million from Royalties for Regions for an Indigenous visitor's hostel in Boulder in September 2012. Local candidate Shane Van Styn this was a great local project and commended Bundiyarra for their commitment to provide better housing and services for local Aboriginal people.

Come to Bundiyarra and fill out your voting enrolment form

Must be submitted before COB tomorrow, Thursday, 14 February 13

Bundiyarra have Electoral Enrolment forms and are offering to assist anyone who needs to complete their forms.

Call into our offices by Thursday, 14 February 2013 before 1pm.

Bundiyarra will deliver the forms to the Australian Electoral Commission for processing.

The State Election will take place on Saturday, 9 March 2013.

We encourage you to have your say and help a long term dream come true.

Above: Wesley Headlam and Trimmer Garlett will be the first to complete their enrolment forms on Monday, 4 February, 2013.

'Its time to have our say'

The announcement made by National Candidate for Geraldton Shane Van Styn, has changed the opinions of a few people not enrolled to vote on election day. Bundiyarra employees Wesley Hedlam and Trimmer Garlett admitted that they are not enrolled to vote and previously never saw it as important. Wesley Headlam said his Grandfather had been encouraging him to enrol to vote because everyone should have their say. Wesley and Trimmer Garlett said that knowing that their votes could potentially assist with a new Hostel being built is the perfect reason to fill in the forms. "We encourage our mates, families and community to join us in voting."

Foodbank eases pressure on families

For countless years Foodbank Geraldton has assisted the Boomerang Hostel provide meals to people staying in emergency short term accommodation.

Their amazing service continues with providing food hampers for people living in remote communities, local families in times of need and provides generous donations of food and refreshments for local cultural events.

Foodbank is committed to alleviating prolonged hunger and the many health problems associated with poor nutrition.

MAOA Housing Report confirms short-term accommodation a priority

In 2010, the Midwest Aboriginal Organisation's Alliance (MAOA) named housing as the number one concern for Aboriginal people in Geraldton. MAOA wanted to understand why there didn't seem to be enough affordable housing for Aboriginal people in Geraldton, and what could be done to fix the situation. With funding support from FaHCSIA and the City of Greater Geraldton, MAOA entered into a research partnership with the Combined Universities Centre for Rural Health (CUCRH) to explore these issues and possible solutions. The 'Action Areas' in the Plan emerged from both Research and the Action Planning workshop. The reports have been presented to Regional Development Australia, the Midwest Development Commission, Department of Housing, City of Greater Geraldton and funding bodies in relation to housing issues.

The Recommendations Summary shows the below actions:
Short-Term Accommodation

- Proposed hostel should cater primarily to those in need of health care.
- Careful policy developed to manage hostel needs.
- Support provided to hostel clients who need to organise longer term housing arrangements.

Bundiyarra is a member of the Midwest Aboriginal Organisation Alliance. (MAOA) MAOA in initiating this research has allowed members working in the housing area to finally have academic research to support submissions to improve emergency short term stay accommodation.

Language Awareness Training for Schools

In 2012 Irira Wangga established collaborative programs with several schools of the Mid-West, Murchison and Gascoyne regions. This was to help facilitate training for language teachers, and to assist educating the youth about Indigenous languages and culture.

Some of the big achievements of 2012 included the establishment of a Native Speaker's Program with Geraldton Secondary College, assisting in teacher training with teachers and AIEOs from across the region, and organising a Language Day at Mount Magnet DHS.

A Native Speaker's Program was established with Geraldton Secondary College in March 2012, and this program will continue in 2013.

This partnership involves staff at Irira Wangga, along with native speakers of Mid-West languages, working with students at Geraldton Secondary in classes at the direction of the Wajarri teacher there, Edie Maher.

Staff at both Irira Wangga and Geraldton Secondary, as well as the students, enjoyed this program, and look forward to its continuation this year.

In August 2012, Irira Wangga was involved in a Language Teacher

Training course with Edie Maher (Geraldton Secondary College), to help train new Wajarri teachers. Participants in the course were interested and receptive to new teaching ideas and concepts. In October Irira Wangga organised a Language Day with Mount Magnet DHS. Linguist James Bednall and Senior Language Worker Leonie Boddington spent the day in Mount Magnet, teaching students about the Aboriginal languages of the Mid-West, Murchison and Gascoyne. James' workshops focused on raising awareness of Aboriginal languages across Australia, with an emphasis on the languages of the Mid-West. Leonie, with the assistance of Wajarri Elder and language specialist Muriel Little, taught an introductory Wajarri class to students, in order to that they could learn some basic Wajarri words and phrases. The day also included a lunch of kangaroo stew and damper, with the whole Mount Magnet community invited to attend. The day was a real success, with the students showing keen interest in the workshops. The Principal Liz Tuckey stated that it was the best-attended event they have run at the school, with many family and community members getting involved.

Cultural Sustainability Award and the winner is - Irira Wangga Language

In May 2012, the Irira Wangga Language Program was very proud to win the Cultural Sustainability award at the 2012 Sustainability and Innovation Awards for its contribution to cultural sustainability.

The program was awarded this honour for its production of the Wajarri Dictionary, and the delivery of Wajarri language classes to the community.

Language Coordinator Jenny Kniveton and Senior Language Worker Leonie Boddington received the award on behalf of the program, and were thrilled to have the language program recognised in this way.

What is the Bundiyarra - Irta Wangga Language Program?

The Irta Wangga Language Program focuses on the preservation, comprehensive description, revitalisation and sustainability of the Aboriginal languages and culture of the Mid-West, Murchison and Gascoyne regions.

The program realises this goal through bringing highly skilled professionals to work on a project-by-project basis with local Elders and community members. A huge milestone in 2012 was the launch of the long-awaited Wajarri Dictionary in March.

This was the product of over 20 years work, and involved the collaboration many dozens of people, including both Yamaji Mail Aboriginal Corporation, Bundiyarra, Wajarri Elders, language specialists, linguists, language workers and members of the broader community.

To have this dictionary finally launched was a huge achievement. The launch was very successful, with over 200 people attending.

In 2012/13, the program saw a major focus on the documentation of Badimaya, a very endangered language in vital need of linguistic support. Staff at Irta Wangga travel extensively to work with Badimaya speakers in Mount Magnet and Buntine to record their language and stories. Over 20 hours of audio material has been collected and transcribed, which will be used in the production of the Badimaya Dictionary, and other language materials published. 2012-13 has also seen the publication of the first ever books printed in Badimaya, which were successfully released in Mount Magnet in November.

Alongside this documentation work, there has been an increased push towards the revitalisation of Wajarri, the most widely spoken language of the region (yet still critically endangered). 2012-13 saw the re-establishment of weekly Wajarri language classes, which have been received with enthusiasm by community. Irta Wangga also established collaborative programs with two schools of the region (Geraldton Senior College and Mount Magnet District High School), in addition to providing language teacher training to teachers and AIEOs from several schools of the Mid-West. Irta Wangga has been dynamic in its work on language promotion and awareness over the last 12 months. Irta Wangga staff have travelled to many communities of the region, including Carnarvon, Cue, Denham, Geraldton, Kalbarri, Mount Magnet, Mullewa, Northampton, Yalgoo and Yulga Jinna, to deliver language awareness workshops, and to talk to local community members about what they want happening with their languages.

Can you help us to sustain the language in your community?

Can you speak any language?

If the answer is yes our language team would be pleased to hear from you.

Be part of this very important process of preserving language in our communities. We welcome you to phone us on (08) 9920 7900 or email; projects@bundiyarra.org.au

What's happening with your Language? An update of Irira Wangga's work with the region's languages

Badimaya

Throughout 2012 Irira Wangga worked extensively on Badimaya, and several of these major projects are continuing in 2013.

Linguist James Bednall, and Senior Language Worker Leonie Boddington, have been making regular trips to Mount Magnet and Buntine to talk with Badimaya speakers Ollie George, Frank Walsh and Don Clinch, in order to record the language (both in audio and video) and safely archive these recordings. This language data is currently being transcribed and analysed, so that we have a better understanding of how Badimaya works.

A huge milestone for Badimaya was the publication of the first ever books written in the language; Joe Benjamin Stories – The Mallee Hen, and Joe Benjamin Stories – The Porcupine Story. These were published in July, and were released in an event on traditional Badimaya country in November 2012.

Current Badimaya projects include a series of three stories about Mount Magnet (Bush Yarns from Mt Magnet) and a Badimaya seasonal calendar, which will be published in February; a Badimaya Bird Book which is due for publication in March; and Badimaya Guwaga, an illustrated wordlist similar in style to Wajarri Wangga and Malgana Wanganyina, which is in preparation, with plans to publish in April. The long awaited Badimaya Dictionary is also currently underway, with the aim of a mid-2013 publication.

Wajarri

Since the March 2012 launch of the Wajarri Dictionary, Irira Wangga has been focussing on several revitalisation programs for Wajarri. Saturday community Wajarri language classes proved to be very successful in 2012, with a regular group of people attending, and learning Wajarri wangga. The first 2013 course of Wajarri classes will begin on 23 February – call us at Irira Wangga for more information!

Irira Wangga is also currently consulting with young mothers and children's groups around Geraldton in order to organise a language nest program for Wajarri. This is a program that will focus on teaching children aged 0-5 Wajarri, in an immersion environment.

Irira Wangga staff are also currently working on two Wajarri storybooks, containing traditional Wajarri stories in language, which will be aimed at children and other people wanting to learn more about Wajarri.

Nhanda

Irira Wangga worked with several Nhanda speakers in 2012, whose language knowledge helped to extend our database of the language.

Irira Wangga is currently continuing to extend this database, consolidating the language information held at the centre, and analysing it more detail. Consultant linguist Sue Hanson worked extensively on putting this database together, which is a comprehensive collection of all the available data we currently have on Nhanda. This database will form the basis of the Nhanda Dictionary, and other future Nhanda publications.

Warriyangka

Irira Wangga is currently trawling through our archived Warriyangka language data, distilling this information into a new Warriyangka database. Irira Wangga will engage the services of a contract linguist to work on a sketch grammar of this language later in 2013.

Ngarla (Ngarlawangga)

In May 2012, two Ngarla publications: Jamie's Bush Tucker Book, and Ngarla

Numbers were launched at Yulga Jinna. These books were published in 2006, but due to a series of events the launch was postponed. The launch of the books was well received by the community, who were very pleased to have publications in Ngarla available.

Irira Wangga continues to work on Ngarla, analysing the language information at the centre in more detail, and refining the database.

Work experience student David Osgarby from the University of Queensland was at the centre in December 2012, and worked on reorganising and updating existing Ngarla materials (audio files, transcriptions, dictionary databases, and language information) during his visit. David also wrote a short paper looking at the verbs in Ngarla, which will be useful in the eventual compilation of a sketch grammar of this language.

Malgana and Yingkarta

Coordinator Jennifer Kniveton and Language Workers Leeann Merritt and Kathy Councillor visited language communities in Shark Bay and Carnarvon in November 2012 to run language awareness workshops on Malgana and Yingkarta, and to get in contact with local people with some knowledge of these languages.

We have limited amounts of information on these languages, and are always looking for more speakers to help us extend our knowledge. If you know Malgana or Yingkarta (even just a few words!) or know someone that does, please give us a call and let us know!

Irwa Wangga Language Program

Lunch out Loud

As part of the National Year of Reading, The Geraldton Regional Library hosted Lunch out Loud on Friday, 16 November 2012.

The program offered local writers to read from their own works. Irwa Wangga Senior Language worker Leonie Boddington read from The Budara Story, a publication her father and mother wrote in language.

An extremely engaged audience were overjoyed with listening to reading in language.

Badimaya books released

The Irwa Wangga team travelled to Mount Magnet on Thursday, 22 November 2012 to release the Badimaya stories of Joe Benjamin, The Porcupine Story and The Mallee Hen.

Joe Benjamin was born in 1910 in the Berkshire Valley area. His first language was Badimaya, which he spoke at home.

The release was hosted at Mt Magnet District High School where children and attendees were able to listen to the books being read in Badimaya.

What is the Bundiyarra Environmental Health Program?

Environmental Health provides a comprehensive environmental health program to the Kardaloo and Pia Wajarri remote communities and assist where possible and in like fashion, other Aboriginal communities in the region such as Buttah Windee, Yulga Jinna, Mt Magnet, Burringurah and Mungala.

It is acknowledged that interagency partnerships have been developed with the Department of Families, Housing, Community Services and Indigenous Affairs [FaHCSIA] via Municipal service providers such as Yulella and MEEDAC to assist in service delivery.

In addition, a Memorandum of Understanding has also been developed and signed off on with the City of Greater Geraldton.

The objectives of this MOU are to;

- Establish partnerships and share responsibility for achieving measurable and sustainable improvements for people living in the community.
- Support and strengthen local governance, decision making and accountability.
- Learn from a shared approach – identify what works and what doesn't and apply lessons to future approaches at community and other relevant levels.
- To support and encourage younger members of the Aboriginal Community to undertake training in Environmental Health and apply it at the community level, and

- To undertake Environmental Health awareness programs in the community.
- Bundiyarra Aboriginal Community and the City of Greater Geraldton may also provide access to one and others plant and equipment on an as needs basis and as determined and agreed to by either party undertaking the activity.
- The Geraldton Regional Aboriginal Medical Service is also an unofficial partner in the MOU with providing capital and equipment relating to two trucks and a Toyota Landcruiser for the provisions of service.

Output services

- Rubbish removal programs
- Dog health
- Pest control
- Dust suppression
- Septic tank/leach drain maintenance
- Maintenance to facilities and equipment
- Community plumbing and other rudimentary repairs
- Provide support and education
- Advance and promote Environmental Health principals to community

Referrals

Referrals continue to be conducted in the Geraldton City area. Where possible the assistance of the occupants is requested.

Education and promotion of environmental health is provided to the occupant at the time of referral.

Works completed include;

- Pest control
- Rubbish removal
- Yard clean-ups
- Mould assessment and treatments
- Septic inspections

Do you require our assistance?

If you require one of the Output Services on offer you can contact the Environmental Health team by phoning (08) 9920 7900.

One of our team will arrange a convenient inspection time to further discuss your requirements.

Key performance indicators ensures successful program delivery

Bundiyarra uses measurable Key Performance Indicators [KPI] to deliver functional aspects for the Environmental Health program. This is within the environmental health team plan. The plan was developed using the National Environmental Health Implementation Plan and was reviewed in June 2011.

Achievements throughout 2012 include;

- Developing a marketing strategy for the operations area of environmental health for 2013. Work has commenced on a brochure, monthly newsletter contribution, newspaper profiles, radio and film. Work will be ready for production starting March 2013
- Developing a Regional Environmental Health Operations Strategy for 2013/2014
- Periodic meetings with Gary Heir, Department of Housing to better coordinate works at remote communities.
- Periodic meetings with both Yulella and MEEDAC to coordinate service provision.
- Two community clean-ups were completed at Kardaloo and Pia Wajarri
- Ongoing inspections at both the above communities.
- An Environmental Health workshop was run at Bundiyarra with community members in attendance.
- Promotional booth was held at the Bundiyarra Cultural Day during NAIDOC week activities. We were able to further promote the program to people across the community - 500 plus visitors to the event. Promotional material was also distributed.
- It should also be noted that while Bundiyarra do not provide direct services to Barrell Well, funds are provided via MEEDAC for dog control and cleaning products for spraying in and around the community.

Aboriginal Health Award and the winner is Gordon Gray

Representatives from the Combined Universities Centre for Rural Health (CUCRH) and the Midwest Aboriginal Organisations Alliance (MAOA) received this year's Public Health Association of Australia (PHAA) Awards.

MAOA Chairperson, Gordon Gray, was awarded the Aboriginal Health Award for his active participation in a range of community projects in the Midwest region over the past 30 years which included service delivery, policy development and advocacy activities.

Gordon is a well respected community member who works tirelessly to encourage development of partnerships and networks to overcome the health and social disparities experienced by his people, this has been demonstrated by his work in coordinating teams of service providers, in order to deliver multiple interventions to some of the most disadvantaged Aboriginal people in Western Australia.

Landscaping Program

Above: The Landscaping Program team have been extremely busy preparing the gardens ready for National Apology Day, today, 13 February 13.

Reserve being revitalised

A work experience program in conjunction with The Salvation Army, Employment Plus as the Job Service Provider and Department of Employment and Education Work Relations (DEEWR), and Durack commenced in late October. The program is designed to provide work experience and training for early school leavers and the long term unemployed.

Job seekers are currently using the program to assist with landscaping the gardens at Bundiyarra - part of the horticulture duties required while undertaking a Certificate II in Conversation and Land Management. Duties include paving, edging, treating weeds, identifying and cultivating plant specimens, garden beds and assisting landscaping design.

A similar program ran in 1998 when the guys from Wila Gutharra CDEP got their hands into some serious gardening in preparation of the opening of Bundiyarra. Knowing that National Apology Day was approaching, the workers wanted to commit to completing areas of the gardens to host the occasion and salute their Elders.

Bundiyarra is extremely proud of this team.

They have taken the time to design the areas, source local products and retain their culture by collecting rocks from Gunnadoo Farm to build rock walls with seating.

Bundiyarra hopes community will utilise the gardens knowing that it is 'A good place to go'.

From work experience to employment

When Wesley Hedlam, Trimmer Garlett and Camile Dalgety signed up for the work experience program with Bundiyarra they liked the idea of being able to work at a place that is of great significance for community. The three workers are now enrolled to complete their Certificate II in Environmental Health which will reward them in working for the Bundiyarra Environmental Health program.

Bundiyarra CEO Trish Delaney said that the workers chosen to complete their certificate have shown dedication to the program by attending work on a regular basis and committing to their local community. Wesley Hedlam has already signed his employment contract.

Community Garden

When the City of Greater Geraldton appointed Emily O'Hara for the 'Go Gero' campaign, she expressed her desire to assist in developing a Community Garden for community. Discussions with Bundiyarra CEO Trish Delaney soon saw a submission to the 'Go Gero' initiative.

The successful submission has assisted many teams within Bundiyarra to come together and share ideas and designs for the Community Garden.

Site works have now been completed. Currently, we are fine tuning the design which will include fencing, water tanks and reticulation. After consultation with community it has been decided the garden will become a source of bush medicine, bush tucker and array of traditional vegetables.

As the project advances we will be looking to secure the help of our volunteers.
